

Creative Breakfast

Wednesday 15 May | 8:30am | Tickets: £3.50
OPEN, Wheal Kitty, St. Agnes
Creative Breakfast On Tour: Mike Lay, Hannah Ray

This May, we're playing away – bringing a slice of the early morning action to our north coast friends. A special edition double helping of creative inspiration (with next level pastries). Social media maestro Hannah Ray shares tales and insight from a career that's included running Instagram's own @instagram account and breaking ground as creative lead on @vogue. Lyrical both in and out of the water, pro surfer, writer and sometime poet Mike Lay will share tales from his work and travels.

Tickets include coffee and a pastry. Available at: tinyurl.com/CBOnTour

Thursday 13 June | 8:30am | Stranger Studio | FREE
Creative Breakfast: Gabby Vautier

Producing for Punchdrunk, co-founding taboo-smashing Fertility Fest, running her own production company... it's safe to say Barbican and Young Vic alum Gabby Vautier can put on a show. Getting vital stories told – both on major national stages and out in the community – Gabby has worked with the likes of Maxine Peake, but is equally hard at work developing the next generation of artists and audiences, championing work that reflects the world we live in today.

FREE: Sign up at tinyurl.com/gabbyvautier

Wednesday 24 July | 8:30am | Stranger Studio | FREE
Creative Breakfast: Lucy Howdle

Over the last 13 years Lucy Howdle has helped shape iconic global brands including Dove, Vaseline and Danone. She's gleaned valuable insights and learnt essential lessons along the way. As a global brand director at Unilever she has managed campaigns that have innovated the sector, and is an ardent advocate for the power of a great brief. If you work on a product brand, have product brand clients or are interested in how brands can affect change, don't miss this one.

FREE: Sign up at tinyurl.com/lucyhowdle

Workshops

Thursday 27 June | 4:30pm | Tickets: £25
Gray's Wharf Studios, Penryn
Pinhole Camera Workshop with Oliver Raymond Barker

Have you noticed we've got a thing for analogue? The week after the summer solstice, we're taking it right back to photography's essentials: light, dark and a simple lens. Join us for a sunlit* after-work riverside workshop with artist Oliver Raymond Barker. From scratch to darkroom to artwork, we'll conjure working cameras from everyday materials (shoebox? biscuit tin? you decide...), before training our lenses outside the studio. (*Obviously we can't guarantee the sun, but here's hoping...)

Tickets are available at: tinyurl.com/strangerpinhole

Firelight

Friday 24 – Sunday 26 May | Firelight @ Porthilly Spirit

Coming to Porthilly Spirit festival? Find us where we're most at home, around a flickering fire, sharing stories. From the frontline to the farm, we've gathered a bunch of brilliant speakers with tales to get you talking and ideas aglow. Check out porthillyspirit.com for more information.

Can't come to this one? Don't worry, we're just warming up...

Thursday 18 July | 7pm | Firelight @ Boatyard Cafe | FREE

In July, Firelight is back among the masts at the Boatyard Cafe in Gweek for dancing flames at high tide. All the usual ingredients: good stories, good people, gooey marshmallows. More details to follow soon.

Still to come in 2019...

Thursday 19 September: Firelight Sleepover @ Kudhva

Venturing into a disused quarry in north Cornwall that's home to unique architectural hideouts, tree tents and probably one of the best off-grid bars in the world – we're planning an extended Firelight to see out the summer. Expect the usual fireside stories, plus live music, sleeping under the stars and a breakfast feast. More details to follow soon.

Thursday 17 October: For the Love of Film

We head to the Fish Factory, Penryn, for a night of Super 8 geekery and celluloid celebration – to include a screening Mark Jenkin's forays into the 8mm format and talking all things film with The Cinematologists.